We have worked with thousands of exhibition organisers and exhibitors providing technology rental, helping them to deliver successful events of all sizes

Event technology continues to evolve at a relentless pace and it can be costly to keep up with trends and provide exactly what delegates expect to see. Purchased solutions can quickly look and feel dated before you've seen any return.

IT & AV hire solutions allow you to pay for the use of the hardware on an 'event by event' basis, keeping your stand, break out area or full exhibition hall fresh, professional-looking and containing the latest technology.

Our IT & AV rental services are ideal for all events, venues, exhibitions and trade shows. Our event clients can benefit from:

- Dedicated account manager – Your account manager will be there to help answer questions and guide you through the rental process, before, during and after the event.
- Pre-event technical support – All hardware is tested and configured prior to delivery and telephone support is in place for the duration of the event. We can fully configure a solution that will match your requirements.
- Logistics and installation services – We understand the complexity of delivering to large events and venues, regardless of whether you require delivery only, or a full installation service too.
- On-site technical support – We can arrange on-site technical support for the duration of your requirement. Our certified engineer can be on-hand to help with any hardware issues that may arise.
- Project management - Your account manager can provide on-site project support, ensuring your solution is installed to your exact requirement and any issues are rectified swiftly.
- De-rig and collection services – A logistics and engineering team will be assigned to collect the equipment, aiming to make your post-event experience as stress free as possible.

Hamilton Rentals help our event & exhibition clients create eye-catching solutions, to draw in the crowds and engage the attention of the audience.

From concept through to installation and digital content, simply share your vision for the event with us and we will work with you to provide a suitable solution.
